

Alfred Ford Jr. Barn

Address: 190 East 200 South • Wallsburg, Utah

One of the prominent names in Wallsburg, is "Ford." Alfred Ford Jr and his wife, ran the little store in Wallsburg for forty years. He and Molinda, also ran the creamery in Wallsburg.

He built this barn, in 1928, with the help of his son, out of native red pine timbers, made from logs taken out of Strawberry Valley forests.

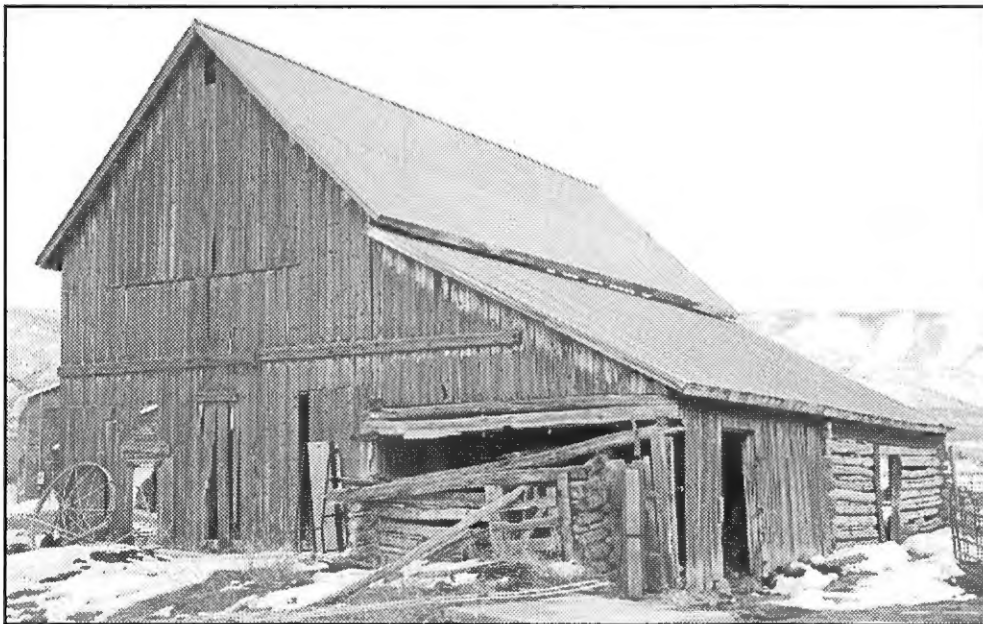

The location of this barn is 190 E 200 South in Wallsburg.

The east side of this barn was replaced years after it was built. Like most barns, it was used for hay storage with a shed in which to milk the cows.

Subsequent owners have been Howard, then Harold Ford.

Informants: Reed Ford

Alfred Ford Sr. Barn

Address: 725 South Round Valley Road • Wallsburg, Utah

This very old barn at 725 South Round Valley Lane in Wallsburg, although owned by Alfred Ford, was built by Joseph Henry Pulley. It was built of red pine and part of it is made of logs which were pegged together. The roof is metal which obviously was put on later.

Mr. Ford came to Wallsburg when he was 10 years old and helped his father and brothers clear the sage brush from the land for a farm. One year they had to burn priklypears spines off to keep their cattle and horses alive. The history book "How Beautiful Upon the Mountain" states that Mr. Ford owned the first Ford car in Wallsburg.

Other owners of that barn are Dave Wall, Tracy Hicken and Nicolas Bigney.

Information Mr. Reed Ford